TO BE SOLD,

A Pleasant and valuable Farm,

A situate on Long-Island, opposite the city of New-York, upon the east river or harbour, and commands a beautiful prospect of said city, the bay, and part of the north river, and is in a good neighbourhood; said farm contains about thirty-one acres, mostly good rich land. There are on said place a good stone dwelling house, barn, and other out-houses, as also several trees, which bear the best of fruit, of different kinds: The land lies extremely convenient for the New-York market, and can with some improvement be made a delightful place for a Gentleman's country seat. It will be sold in whole or in part, together with about 5 or 6 acres of good salt meadow, lying about half a mile from the premises. For further particulars, inquire of Isaac Sebring, living on the premises (who will give an indisputable title for the same) or of Theoderus Van Wyck, and Cornelius Sebring, at New-York. 56—

A N anonymous correspondent who dates his letter in East New-Jersey, has sent money to pay for an advertisement, signifying his apprehensions of a conspiracy among the Negroes, which he supposes has been long in agitation, to set themselves free: He grounds this conjecture on speeches that he has heard, were made by two Negroes, one lately; the other about a year ago, viz.—"That it was not necessary that they should endeavour to please their masters, for that they should not have any masters long."
He therefore hopes all the Colonies will take proper measures for their security, and particularly, that they will put in execution the laws which prohibit Negroes, who are become vastly numerous, from meeting together in companies.
And tho' he has 2 of his own, he prays that the King and parliament would make a law, to send all Negroes back to their own country, at the expense of their owners; and he desires, that this caution may not seem to any, as coming from one that mocketh! 56 59

By Capt. FALCONER, arrived at Philadelphia from London, we have the following Advice, viz.

THE disputes and discontents of the unhappy natives of Poland, and the States who have assumed a power of dividing their country, will at last involve Europe in a general war. The court of Vienna is jealous of the Russian power; and the Emperess does not relish the arrogance of the Emperor. The Turks assume new spirits upon this event, and will join the Germans against the Russians.

The views of the court of France, in respect to Corfica, must undoubtedly rouse the English and Spanish Ministry to oppose them. or else their pusillanimity is not to be paralleled. The French intend making that island a repository of marine stores; the shores are to be covered with dock-yards, and the building of ships is to be their chief object.
The consequences of which are obvious. The island must be strongly fortified, to protect their works; and, as their naval force increases, consequently so will their strength; they will engross all the Levant trade, and be able to support their title to it with any power in Europe; and perhaps, when they find their force sufficient, many encroach upon, or drive us and other nations from more valuable branches of trade.

The approaching congress, to settle the affairs of Poland, causes much speculation. Many people imagine that the King will be entirely divested of his kingdom; and that it will be afterwards under a republican form of government. Whilst others (and those much the greater part) think that it will be equally divided between the Prussians, Germans, and Russians. However all seem to agree, that if the King is restored, he will hold his dominions under one or all the above mentioned powers.

By letters from France we are informed, that the court of Versailles is under great embarrassment on account of the late interview between the Emperor of Germany and the King of Prussia, which they apprehend in its consequences to be dangerous to the tranquility of Europe. The invasion of the kingdom of Poland, which followed their first conference, and the partition of that Kingdom that is likely soon to take place after this, is the more alarming, as the power of these two Potentates being thereby rendered formidable, their union, it is feared, will produce an alteration in the system of Europe, to which the grandeur of France will probably be made the first sacrifice. The Dutches of Lorraine and Bar, the province of Alsace, and the towns that have been wrested from the imperial Diadem in Flanders, are objects which the Emperor must have in view. While the claims of his Prussian Majesty on Great Britain, will, on the other hand, furnish a pretence for that enterprising Monarch to fall upon Hanover, in order to add that electorate to his other territories. Thus these two potentates, say the French, by adding territory after territory to their dominions, will become the arbiters of Europe.

The court of France, from these motives, are incessantly pressing the Court of London to interpose in time, in order to prevent the dismemberment of Poland. It is, however hoped, that as our Ministers have suffered the national Honour to be insulted by one power for the sake of Peace, they will not be the dupes of another to precipitate a war, for the preservation of a territory with which England, as a kingdom, has no manner of connection.

By the last mail we learn, that the late rebellion in Sweden was occasioned by the oppression that the people experienced, from a want of care in the Magistrates to reduce the enormous price of provisions. Is not this exactly the case in England?
And may not similar consequences be produced from similar effects?

August 14. Several charities, &c. which were instituted at Copenhagen, at the instance of the unfortunate Queen Confort, have, since her departure, been abolished; and the utmost disrespect is shewn by the Court to every thing that seems to support her memory.

Orders are issued for the officers belonging to the garrisons in Great Britain and Ireland, to repair immediately to their respective stations.

The Emperor of Morocco is fitting out a large fleet of corsairs. This is done at the publick expence; and on the return of this fleet, which generally keeps the sea about three months, he obliges the Jews to buy what provisions and old stores are left on board, and puts the money in his treasury.

A report prevailed on Friday at 'Change, that the King of Sweden has published a manifesto, wherein he gives reasons for the late step he has taken; and that a copy of it has already been sent to several of the northern courts.

Government have lately contracted with some eminent Ship-builders for building forty vessels on a new plan, proposed by Lord Sandwich, for the internal navigation up the small rivers in Guinea, Africa, and along the Gold Coast, as well as those of America. They are to be so calculated, as, when full laden, to draw but little water.

August 17. The last conference Lord Hillsborough had with a Great Personage, previous to his Lordship's setting out for Ireland, was merely to thank his Majesty for the confidence and distinction he honoured him with, in the course of near five years service; and from the cordiality this compliment was received with, there is no doubt, if his Lordship should choose to come into administration any time hence, he will gladly be accepted of.

Before Lord Hillsborough set out, he delivered the Earl of Dartmouth some instructions for proceedings in the next session of Parliament, together with several papers of consequence, which his Lordship received some time since from the Continent of America.

Lord Dartmouth, if an American Bishop should take place during his continuance in office, is, we hear to make the first Prelate, Dr. Madan, of the Lock hospital.

It is said the complaints in Trade in Lisbon are now in a fair way to be redressed by the new Minister, who, it is said, is as good a judge of commerce as he is of heresy.

It is reported, that a Great Personage has written a letter in his own hand to a very eminent Dignitary not far from Lambeth, commanding him to discontinue his Lady's rout, &c. under pain of the severest displeasure.

Lord Townsend is recalled from Ireland, and is to be rewarded on his return to Great Britain with the command of the Coldstream or second regiment of foot guards. The old and gallant Colonel the present commander thereof, is to retire upon a pension of 4000 l. per annum, which sum Lord Townsend is to pay Lord Tyravley during the latter's life.

It is a fact that a fleet of 4 sail of the line, with two companies of artillery, sailed the 2d Inst. from Brest for Martinico.

August 18. Orders are given from the war-office for fifty men and two officers to be added to each of the independent companies of invalids.

Thursday a man digging in a ditch in Five-foot lane, Southwark, the trench of the mud was so great that it took his senses away, and he died before he could be taken out. What is exceedingly remarkable, his hair all came off his head.

This day a commission of bankruptcy was sealed against a capital merchant in the city, who failed for upwards of 270,000 l.

August 24. On Thursday Captain Bluit, in the American trade, was suddenly taken ill when at dinner with his mother and some friends, at his mother's house, in Mill-Areet, Southwark; and notwithstanding all proper assistance, died that evening.

Died, John Calcraft, Esq; Member of Parliament for Rochester, worth upwards of 600,000 l. he has left an annuity to B—, the actress, of 200 l. per annum.

It is confidently said, that, besides the Peerage already granted to Lord Hillsborough, his Lordship is to have a pension of 1500 l. per annum, on the Irish establishment, as a reward for his eminent services respecting America, &c.

It is said that Captain Jones will, in a few days, receive his Majesty's pardon. He has promised to leave England and go to America, where he will have an appointment equal to what he had here.

Sept. 4. They write from Dantzick, that the French and Spanish agents have been for upwards of two months there purchasing ship timber, and other materials for building. It is computed they have laid out upwards of 300,000 l. with the timber merchants at Stettin and Dantzick.

Sept. 5. The unexpected revolution in Sweden, is confidently asserted to be the deep scheme of the King of Prussia, to which he easily brought his nephew, the young King, to accede. The event of this plan has answered the ambitious projects of his Prussian Majesty, who will now, in fact, from his great influence over the youthful monarch, reign in Sweden as powerful as in his own country. The Swedes in the last war took part against Prussia (by the power of the States, in opposition to the desires of the late King) but, by this important political stroke, the cunning Frederick has secured himself from any such circumstance in any future war.

It is imagined that the share a certain enterprising Monarch is well known to have had in the late revolution in Sweden, will not only draw upon him the jealousy, but the chastisement of some very formidable powers.

It is whispered that a certain unfortunate Monarch is preparing to make a visit incog. to this kingdom, imagining, that a personal representation of his wrongs and indignities will doubly interest all good men in his cause.

The Duke of Parma has ordered a box to be placed in a publick part of his palace, into which any of his subjects may throw their petitions. Such as request a particular audience may obtain it.

They write from Leghorn, that the French are cutting down whole forests in the Island of Corsica, for naval ship timber to be exported to Marseilles, Brest, Rochfort, and Toulon.

The Portugal trade, which some years since used to produce above a million a year in favour of England, does not now amount to above one hundred thousand pounds per annum.

Orders are issued for manning and fitting out for sea immediately at Plymouth, the Shrewsbury, of 74 guns, and the Argo of 28 guns.

It is certain that great complaints have lately been transmitted here, relative to the behaviour of the Spaniards, towards the British logwood cutters in the Bay of Honduras.

Among other reasons, which were given for Lord Hillsborough's opposition to the new grant of lands upon the Ohio, the true one was forgotten, which was, that by passing a grant (at once) of two and twenty millions of acres, the fees of his office would be considerably diminished, and those emoluments transferred to the grantees, which have hitherto helped to enrich the grantors.

Sept. 7. We are informed, that as an inducement for persons of abilities to undertake the government of Ireland, the salary is to be augmented to the future Viceroy from 20,000 l. to 24,000 l. per annum, to support with dignity and reputation that important office.

Stockholm, August 18. This day the States were assembled in Pleno extraordinary, when an extract of the Secret Committee's Protocol was read, containing an account, that the garrison of Christianstad, in Schonen, had revolted, and made itself master of the fortress, headed by one Hellichius, a Captain in the said garrison; and that, as this affair may have dangerous consequences, the Secret Committee has, for the better security of this capital, ordered one battalion of the regiment of Upland, and one of that of Sudermania, to march thither, and the cavalry of the Burghers to patrol in the night. Senator Funck, and General Pecklin, are also sent down to Schonen, empowered to assemble the troops, and take such measures, as shall be found necessary to reduce the revolted garrison, and restore the public tranquility.

Several of the Members of the Secret Committee having absented themselves for a long time, new ones have been elected in their places; among which are General Pecklin, Count Dohna, Baron Gronhagen, Baron Bror Cederstrom, Lieutenant Colonels Peter Schonstrom and Vicken.

August 21. Yesterday morning a paper was laid upon the table, in one of the apartments of the palace, for all those to subscribe, who are willing to swear fidelity to the King; and it is said, that the number of subscribers has been very large.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman at Lisbon, to a Merchant in Cork, dated July 13.

"On the 3d instant was executed, pursuant to her sentence, Louiza de Jesus, for the murder of thirty-three infants, that were at different times committed to her care by the Directors of the Foundling-Hospital at Coimbra, for which (as appears by the sentence published) she had no other inducement but 600 reals in money, a covado of beiz, and a cradle, that she received with each of them. She was but 23 years of age when executed. Going to execution she was pinched with hot irons, and at the gallows her hands were struck off; she was then strangled and her body burnt."

Extract of a letter from Berlin, August 7.

"The views of our Monarch are, as usual, not to be developed, many people imagine, that his treaties with Russia are mere feints, to cover one of more consequence with the Emperor of Germany, by which it is said all Pomerania and polish Pussia, together with a large sum of money, are to be given to our sovereign; while the Emperor is to take possession of that fine part of Poland which lies contiguous to his hereditary dominions. In this manner, it is thought; that unfortunate country, will be dismembered. Russia is to be contented with some of the northern provinces. The Emperor and our Machiavel have, we hear, concluded a secret treaty with the court of Copenhagen and Stockholm, and the Porte; by which they are to maintain their new dominions, which the above courts are to guarantee. Should Russia and the Poles join to expell the Prussian and imperialist, the Turks will be let loose on the coast of the black sea and the southern parts of Poland; while the Danes and Swedes are to harass them on the north and north west; which with the forces the two united powers can bring into the field, will effectually secure their dominions from any power. This scheme is much talked of here; and it it takes place will prove a master stroke of politics."

PHILADELPHIA.

Extract of a letter from London August 27.

"You may hug yourself that you are settled in Philadelphia; and not in London, as the distress among the merchants and traders, in this city, is beyond conception; capital houses are breaking every day, and nobody knows whose turn will be next, so that all confidence, between man and man, is at an end; and, when it will be restored, God only knows: To explain this matter a little, I must remind you, that the chief part of the trade of this city is carried on upon credit, and that paper of various denominations is employed to supply the place of money; this paper credit has been carried too far, both by persons of property, and those of none; and this circulation was got beyond all bounds, as the bank was very free to discount to any amount, on what they called good paper; but when Fordyce, the banker, blew up, it was then discovered what an immense chain of circulation was carried on, and a great part of it without any solid foundation: The Scotch banks in particular, had issued an amazing sum in paper, which though secured in some sort by great landed estates, yet could not be discharged in any reasonable time, and they depended on the bank of England for their currency: The bank, alarmed by these discoveries, were determined to stop their hands, and for a while no paper could be discounted; and even to this time, they discount very sparingly. This refusal of the bank put the whole city into convulsions; people were stopping every day, and many of them finished their lives at the gallows, as the French term it: One house, by this means, overfet another, and many solid houses were obliged to demand time, because they could not discharge their paper at so short a warning. I have been something tedious in this description, but could not, off hand, bring it into less compass, and I thought you would wish to have this matter investigated."

Sunday last arrived here, from New-York, his Excellency WILLIAM TRYON, Governor of that province.

The vessel mentioned in our paper to have been seen bottom up, off Phenix's island, is since drove ashore near Sinepuxent, and proves to be a New-England built sloop, with a quantity of oil and spermaceti on board. The body of a drowned man was found in her.

In the late hurricane, in the West Indies, a brig drove on a reef of rocks, off Bermuda, where she soon beat to pieces, and every person perished; since which, the head and several parts drove ashore, from which it is reduced to almost a certainty, that it is the brig Nancy and Polly, Capt. Thorp of and from Wilmington, on Christiana Creek, bound for Dominica.

Extract of a letter from Capt. Bafden, late Master of the sloop Patty, dated Virginia, October 7.

"I sailed from St. Christophers for Philadelphia the 7th ult. and am sorry to inform you, that on the 26th, in lat. 57, 10, lon. 75, in 12 fathom water, standing off shore to the S. Eastward, the wind about E. N. E. in the morning between 6 and 7 o'clock, and blowing very hard, I was under my balance main and fore sail, with the bonnets off, saw a ship to the windward, coming down before the wind toward us, as if intending to speak us; when she came within a mile of us, they clewed up their mizen top sail and fore top sail, drew away down right across our fore foot, and ran on board of us, the ship then going at the rate of 8 or 9 knots, it blowing very hard, and a very high sea, she broke off our bowsprit close by the stem, and did us other damage, which occasioned us all hands to quit the sloop and take to the ship, to save our lives, having on board said sloop at that time about 700 Half Johannes's, and two negro boys, which I could not get out of the vessel, and we with great difficulty got into the ship, leaving every thing on board the said sloop but the clothes on our backs, which were very trifling. It proved to be the ship Peters, Capt. Lang, from Glasgow for Virginia, out 10 weeks: I intreated the Captain to stay by the sloop till such time as we might see whether she sunk or swam, or till the weather was moderate, that we might endeavour to get out the money, negroes, and other things of value; but he said he would not stay at any rate, but make the best of his way to Virginia. I then offered to give him any thing he would ask in reason, if he would stay by the vessel, till the weather was moderate; but he refused, made the best of his way, and was out of sight of the sloop in less than half an hour, and about 5 o'clock in the afternoon arrived at Portsmouth, in Virginia, where we immediately engaged a vessel or two to go in search of the sloop as soon as the weather would permit, which was not till two days after. I have entered a regular protest against the Captain and ship, as every person here thought them liable to make the damages good, if they were able, and every step is taken towards recovering the loss and damages in said sloop. I would have said by the sloop, notwithstanding she was so much hurt, if it had been weather for a boat to have lived on the water, but it blowing hard, and a high sea going, rendered it impossible for us to have saved our lives in any boat. We were under so small sail, that we could not have got out of the ship's way, even if I had known they intended to run me down."

ind at Newark,

in New Jersey, attended with a very heavy Rain, by which the Inhabitants of that Place have lost more than 500 Apple Trees, besides many of their Buildings have suffered much, particularly the Dwelling-Houses of Isaac Ogden, Esq; Mr. Timothy Johnson, and Mr. Samuel and Elias Baldwin, The Gust happened on the Change of the Wind and its Width was supposed not to be more than 30 Rods.

Last Saturday ended the Sitting of the Supreme Court in this City, when two notable Prisoners were found guilty and sentenced. viz. William Thomon, for Robbery, to be hanged on Friday the 13th Instant, and Jacob Moses, the greater Villain of the two, for receiving stolen Goods (and causing them to be stolen) to be carted round the City, and whipped at the public whipping Post. Also John Foster was convicted of Pettit Larceny, and sentenced to receive 39 Lashes at the whipping Post; which Sentence was on Monday last executed upon Moses and Foster. The first of these being a notorious Offender, who had for a long Time carried on a regular Trade of villany, by which it is thought he had amassed a considerable Sum of Money, the people in general were highly insensed against him, and the Stripes were so heavily applied that he fainted, during the Operation; however he received the full Complement which was generally thought to be less than he deserved.

To the PRINTER.

We hear from England, that the ingenious Mrs.
Wright, whose surprising Imitations of Nature, in Wax Work, have been so much admired in America, by a diligent Application and Improvement in the same Employment, has recommended herself to the general
Notice and Encouragement of Persons of the first Distinction in England, who have honoured her with peculiar Marks of their Favour; and as several eminent Personages, and even his Majesty himself, have condescended to set several Times for her to take their Likenesses; it is probable she will enrich her Collection, and oblige her Friends in America, with a View of the most remarkable Persons of the present
Age, among which will be the immortal, inimitable Garrick, whom she had begun; she has already completed, and sent over to her House in this City where they may be seen, the most striking Likeness of the celebrated Doct. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, of Philadelphia, now in London, and of Mrs. CATHERINE M'CAULAY, so much admired for her great Learning, fine Writing and amiable Character.

1772. Any Printer who sees this is desired to in-

POET'S CORNER.

On a Snuff called Spanish Bran.
 L E T others halt the Pow'r of Wine,
 Or sacrifice at Beauty's Shrine;
 Of these I've had enough.
 A different Theme calls forth my Lays,
 My humbler verse shall sing the Praile
 Or titillating Snuff.
 If nauseous Fumes obstruct my Sight,
 Sad Remnant of the jovial Night!
 And cloud my drowsy Mind;
 Snuff's pungent Atoms I implore—
 They come—my Pain is felt no more,
 No Trace is left behind.
 Should not the Muse from Slumber keep
 For Muses now and then will sleep,
 And stop poetic Skill:
 The Goddess you must quickly woo
 With Snuff—an ample Pinch or two—
 And smooth will glide your Quill.
 Ye luckless Fair, whose Eyes refuse,
 To trap the Youth in Wedding Noose,
 Have Snuff at your Command:
 By graceful Motions of your Arm,
 You issue forth each different Charm,
 Of Bracelet Ring, and Hand.
 'Tis not Havannah's subtil Grain,
 (True Emblem of ambitious Spain)
 Whose Praile I have in View;
 Not Rowley's Patent Leaf, nor even Old Hardham's famous thirty-seven,
 Nor Brazil's verdant Hue.
 Not Caledonian Weed, prepar'd
 In vagrant Muffs, nor dry Blackguard,
 Come forth within my Plan:
 I sing an Herb of later Date,
 (Since Keppel's Fame, Velasco's Fate)
 Thy Praise, O Spanish Bran!
 Let gloomy Moralists complain
 Of Joy's short Date, and Length of Pain,
 That Life is but a Span:
 Ye Gods! I never would lament,
 With Half that Space I'd be content,
 Give me but Spanish Bran.

MACHINE to dress FLOUR.

THE King has been pleased to grant unto JOHN MILNE of Manchester, his royal letters patent, for all his colonies in America, &c. for the sole making and vending his new invented machines, for the dressing the flour of wheat, &c. which machines are found to be of great utility by all persons who have them in use;
 they not only make the flour look better, but also make it use better, as they make it more lively, and will dispatch three times as much business in the same time, as the common method of bolting with cloths, and they will do that business at one operation, which, to be done with cloths, requires several, for they will dress fine flour, two seconds and three seconds, and clean the bran at one operation; or they may make two sorts, or only one sort of flour, by moving the partitions within the box, just as the person pleases who attends it; and considering their duration, are much cheaper than cloths. Also, his new invented machines for cleaning wheat, barley, &c. which takes out seeds, dust, &c. and will break and destroy smut balls, and give a brightness and lustre to the grain.
 The said machines are to be sold by JOHN MILNE, and Co. at their house in Manchester; or by applying to James Milne (son of the said John Milne) who is now at Mr. Carleton's, near the Fort, in New-York.

Just imported in the last vessels from ENGLAND,
 A fresh COLLECTION of the above mentioned MACHINES.

To the PUBLICK.

HAVING had an experience of Mr. Milne's new invented patent machines, for bolting flour and cleaning wheat, at my mill, where they are now to be seen at work, at Long-Island—
 I think it my duty to declare, that they are a curious, expeditious and elegant contrivance, and what, in my opinion, will answer every purpose for which they are designed, and likewise be of great service to the publick. JACOB SEGRING, junr.

To the PUBLICK.

I think it incumbent on me, for the good of the community, and particularly of those who are manuf.urers of flour, to declare, that upon trial, I have found Mr. Milne's machine answer the purposes of bolting, for which they are intended; infinitely better than the old method of doing it with cloths, as they really bolt three times as quick without the least exaggeration, and are a very ingenious contrivance.
